

OLEVI

Train The Trainer Programmes (TTT)

The Train the Trainer Programme is for OLEVI facilitators who want to facilitate the 6 OLEVI TLC Programmes across their own organisations, as Alliance members, and drive improvements in Teaching, Leadership and Coaching.

Why the OLEVI Train the Trainer (TTT) programme?

What is the rationale?

The Train the Trainer Programme is for OLEVI facilitators who want to facilitate the 6 OLEVI TLC Programmes across their own organisations, as Alliance members, and drive improvements in Teaching, Leadership and Coaching.

This training will ensure facilitators understand the purpose of the programmes as well as key models, activities and processes. As well as accreditation, facilitators will have access to the resources and facilitator notes to ensure programmes can be facilitated successfully.

How does it work?

There is a simple 3 step process to accreditation

The OLEVI TTT Programme

As an accredited OLEVI Facilitator having completed the Outstanding Facilitator Programme (OFP), full attendance of this programme, plus engagement with the relevant asynchronous TTT units, will accredit you to be a facilitator of our Teaching & Learning, Leadership and Coaching programmes, covering our TLC suite. OLEVI's Train the Trainer will get to the heart of each OLEVI programme ensuring that facilitators have the knowledge, skills and understanding to facilitate them effectively. This programme is for:

- OLEVI facilitators who have completed the OFP and are now ready to facilitate programmes from the TLC suite.
- Senior Leaders from OLEVI membership schools who want to deepen their understanding of what each programme has to offer.

The OLEVI TTT programme consists of 2 x 2-hour sessions and is facilitated by one of OLEVI's Professional Facilitators. In addition to these live sessions, OLEVI facilitators will need to engage with approximately 1-hour of asynchronous learning (videos and reading materials) for each of the programmes within the TLC suite to be accredited to facilitate them.³
